

Warner Bros. Television and DC Entertainment put on a bash of their own on Friday at Float atop the Hard Rock. Guests included cast members from "Vampire Diaries" and the "Big Bang Theory;" and crashing the party was everyone's favorite late night flaming red-headed TV host, Conan "Coco" O'Brien. Earlier that day, O'Brien showed up unannounced during the Warner Bros. "Green Lantern" animated series panel in Room 6BCF. The purpose of O'Brien's surprise visit \(http://teamcoco.com/video/conan-crashes-comic-con\) — to present a trailer of his new animated picture based on his alter ego — "The Flaming C \(http://www.thewb.com/shows/comic-con/the-flaming-c-preview/dc6d7574-a533-4865-80e9-140914648757\)." Conan further impressed fans with a special appearance at the Flaming C Art Gallery on Fifth Avenue in the Gaslamp, featuring "the Art of Conan," created by several of his devoted fans. The free exhibit was open during Comic-Con and closed Sunday evening.

The Syfy and E! party on Saturday at the Hotel Solamar hosted such guests as Steven Soderbergh, promoting his upcoming film "Haywire" with Ewan McGregor — coming out in January 2012; and Bryan Cranston of AMC's "Breaking Bad \(http://www.amctv.com/shows/breaking-bad\)," who was there to promote the remake of "Total Recall." Also in attendance was Quentin Tarantino, who is working on a spaghetti western called "Django Unchained \(http://www.imdb.com/title/tt1853728/\)" starring Leonardo Di Caprio, Kevin Costner, Samuel L. Jackson, and Christoph Waltz — scheduled to open in December 2012. In other Tarantino news — originally slated for 2013 — ten years after the release of "Kill Bill: Vol. 1;" "Kill Bill: Vol. 3" starring Uma Thurman and Daryl Hannah, is expected to hit theatres in 2014.

Comic-Con.org will be posting a look back at Comic-Con International 2011 in the coming weeks. More Comic-Con news is also available via Facebook \(https://www.facebook.com/comiccon\), Twitter \(http://twitter.com/#!/comic\_con\), and YouTube \(http://www.youtube.com/user/ComicCon\).

0 0 0 ••• 0 0 Print
Like Tweet Report

Jasmine Rios, San Diego Comic-Con Examiner

Originally from San Francisco, Jasmine Rios is a freelance writer based in San Diego. Schooled in music, drama, and dance, Rios furthered her education at San Jose State University by pursuing Journalism & Mass Communications. In 1997, she received her bachelors degree in Advertising. Currently,...